It will be seen by this that the export trade to Europe is not very active. Returns showing the shipments from this port to the British possessions in North America, give a more favorable exhibit. Breadstuffs to a considerable extent have been exported to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick this season, and our trade with that part of for the world is daily becoming more important. This is fortunate, for there appears to be at this moment but a moderate demand in Europe for any of our staple products, except cotton, and that article has, for some time past, been rapidly depreciating in value. The shipments of breadstuffs to ports in Great Britain last week, were unusually large, but limited compared with the surplus supply we have on hand, seeking markets abroad.

THE EOLIAN HOTEL, SM BROADWAY.—AMONG the many elegant hotels which have recently been established to meet the comforts and tastes of our citisens, and the numerous strangers sejourning among us, there are few, if any, that present more advantages for the accommodation of guests than the Eolian House, up town. It is under the management of Mr. G. Donadi, who is well known to the community as one of the most experienced and sentiemaally hotel proprietors of the day. The Eolian is appointed with all the elegancies and comforts of the modern style of first class houses, while the table presents every variety of invaries that can be furnished by the market, or prepared by the most skillful cuisnier. Families desirous of affording themselves all the comforts and elegancies of a home, would find it to their advantage to give this house their patronage. It is located in one of the most agreeable quarters of the city, on Broadway, between Twelfish and Thirteenth streets, in the immediate vicinity of Union square. With all the advantages of this house, the terms are comparatively moderate. Families find all the enjoyments of a home, without half the expense or trouble of housekeeping.

Reading Convention—Contests of the Bucharan and Cass Factions among the Democracy—Terrible Work Thead.

One of the most important conventions ever held in this State, is about to take place next week, and great, are the preparations made by professional men and outsiders for the rare and sportive occasion. Already every room that can possibly be spared is engaged, and every effort is now being made to give the distinguished guests from a distance a hearty welcome, and comfortable quarters. This is guite a thriving little town, numbering from a distance a hearty welcome, and comfortable quar-ters. This is quite a thriving little town, numbering about 15,000 inhabitants, surrounded by vine-clad hills-in the midst of the great mineral wealth of the Keystone State, and inhabited, in a great measure, by lineal de-scendants of the Allemanic tribes of the Teutonic race. The potois spoken here resembles that spoken in Germany in the Black Forest, and sounds harshly only till you get used to it. Marius, remembering the defeat of Varus in gious to the sweet accents and warlike melodies of the ancient Germans. lest these might produce a panic in his ranks, and the result proved the wisdom of his precau-tion. The German language has since undergone many modulations and changes; but I believe it is still spoken in its original purity in Old Berks. The blending of the Angle-Saxon with the Teutonic had only added to the copleusness of its vocabulary.

The convention, which meets here on Thursday next, assembles properly for the purpose of nominating a Governor; but there is a deep by-play going on, bearing essentially on the Presidential election in 1852. For more than a year an intestine war has been waging be-tween the friends of Mr. Buchanan and those of Gen. Cass, in this State, which, in point of virulence and acrimony, far exceeds the bitterness between whigs and democrats, and may possibly terminate in the overthrow of both these candidates for the Presidency. Mr. Bu-chanan, as a Pennsylvanian, and with the machinery of party at his disposal, personally known to all the leading and has the regular army of pointenants in his actor, our such has been the skill tact, energy, and perseverance of the friends of Gen. Cass. that the guerillas, as they call themselves, have succeeded in occupying many im-portant positions, from which it will be difficult to dislodge them, even at the point of the bayonet. While Buchanan's friends are old soldiers—the veterans of many campaigns—the friends of Gen. Cass are, with few exceptions, national guards; less disciplined, but equally many campaigns—the friends of Gen. Cass are, with few exceptions, national guards; less disciplined, but equally setive, though occasionally guilty of great blunders.

Thus it was a great blunder for the friends of Col Frazer to press that distinguished democrat for Governor, in opposition to Bigler, who, beyond a doubt, is the choice of seven-eighths of the democracy of Pennsylvania. It put the friends of Gen. Cass in a wrong position, and enabled Mr. Buchanan's friends to perfect a separate organization, nominally for Bigler, but in reality for Mr. Buchanan himself.

Another blunder was committed by Gen. Cass's friends in Philadelphia. They opposed Judge Campbell for the Supreme Bench to the point of forcing a separate organization; and thus enabled the friends of Mr. Buchanan, by railying on Judge Campbell, to secure a large portion of the Irish interest for Mr. Buchanan, and to give Judge Campbell a position in the ranks of Mr. Buchanan's friends. I doubt much whether Judge Campbell is much pleased by being thus pressed into the service; but he is new in the regular army, and must abide the issue with the guerrillas.

In this way has Mr. Buchanan, for the last three or four months, gained in several counties, heretofore strongly in favor of Gen. Cass; but not so much with the rank and file, as with the professional politicians. My opinion now is that Mr. Buchanan may a sip between the cup and the lip, and old whist players have a superstition that a man revoking at nine seldom wins the game. Mr. Buchanan may prove an exception to the rule. There are a great many people in this State, who think it is due to Pennsylvania to vote for a Pennsylvanian, independent of any other consideration; while these age others who can see no good reason why Mr. Buchanan may prove an exception to the rule. A vice boulty, to make positions. Both and wavefulness were assessed to the control of the contr ter sung than it ever has been before in Boston, and the excited audience demanded a repetition. As she came forward to acknowledge the compliment, with her intellectual face flushed with the excitement of the occasion, she was covered with bouquets, and the superb aria was again, given with an expression and a finish unequalled. The brilliancy of the finale was electrifying. The whole house rose with one impulse, and shout after shout went up from the thousands till she reappeared before the footights, when the triumph was complete and as she gracefully retired, laden with wreaths, the cheering was tremendous. She has made an impression on our musical people, such as no one has ever done before, and but one opinion exists in regard to her—that she is the best seprential that has ever appeared in opera here, while her style and manners are peculiarly faccinating. We shall expect to hear her again in the next season.

Maretzek had a benefit on Monday evening. "Lucrezia Borgia," and the last seene of "Lucia," were the pieces selected for the occasion. The house was full and the audience very complimentary. Bosic's Lucrezia was finished and correct; the opera was grandly done. Bettini never sung better than in Lucia; his voice was fresh and gave entire satisfaction. The opera season of four weeks has been successful; thanks to Max for giving us it sis and Martin. or it would have been a failure, for Bostonians always want the best of everything, and if they are sometimes chary of applause, it is not that they do not appreciate, but that they are naturally co'd, though they semetimes get wrought to "concert pitch." A small quantity of applause form a Beston audience is as gratifying to an ertiste as a great deal from a warmer one.

Let Mr. Maretzek give us a little earlier season mext

Let Mr. Maretzek give us a little earlier season next time, and he will have no cause to say that Bestomans are not a musical people. He is, doubtless, aware of it by this time. Our Philadelphia Correspondence.
